This ecologically conscious hotel sets a new standard for luxury and environmentally aware hotels. The tented camp is centered in the middle of the beautiful Mara River, known for its Wildebeest migration. The camp's main goal is to reduce as much non-renewable energy as possible; they make this possible by having their entire camp run on solar panels. What's their method? Simplicity. The camp provides a truly off-the-grid location centered in absolute nature. So much so that there's no need for a spa. Let your stresses wash away with the sound of the river and immerse yourself in authentic and beautiful African art. The wildlife is truly amazing. Aside from the Wildebeest crossing, the Mara ecosystem is home to wild cats, elephants, hippopotamuses and crocodiles. Take in nature from every single tent and enjoy the uninterrupted views of the Mara River.
